

JOHN B. POYNTE, JR.,
INSURANCE AGENT.
Oldest and best Companies. Insures for full value. Low rates. Lowest promptly paid. No discounts. No delays. Office on Third and a market street. ap15ly

J. A. MACKLEY.
— Wholesale and Retail —
BOOKSELLER AND STATIONER.
Second Street, (nearly) MAYSVILLE, KY.

MRS. F. B. COLLINS.
MILLINERY AND DRESSMAKING.
Latest styles of Hats, Bonnets, Laces and Millinery notions. Prices low. Second street, Mrs. George Burrows old stand. ap15ly

MISS LOU POWLING.
FASHIONABLE MILLINER.
Full Hats, Millinery goods, Bonnets, Ribbons, Flowers and Millinery Goods generally. Entire satisfaction guaranteed in all cases. Second, opposite Opera House. ap15ly

EGNEW & ALLEN.
STOVES, GRATES, TINWARE,
stoves, etc., Sole agents for the celebrated Grates and Lenoir stoves. Boring and gutting promptly and satisfactorily done. Corner of Market and Third streets. R. G. Cook's old stand. ap15ly

Q. A. MEANS.
FURNISHING UNDERTAKER.
Full line of Burial Robes and all articles required by the undertaker. Boring and gutting promptly attended to day or night. ap15ly
No. 26, Second Street.

W. B. MATHEWS & CO.
— Manufacturers and Dealers in —
Building and Dressed Lumber.
Laths, Shingles, Boards, Frames, Doors, Sash, Blinds, Penning, Tobacco, Hogsheads, etc. ap15ly
MAYSVILLE, KY.

YANCY & ALEXANDER.
OLD RELIABLE
LIVERY, SALE AND FEED STABLES.
Vehicles of all kinds, good stock and carriage drivers. Horses kept by the day, or week on reasonable terms. Second st, between Market and Limestone. ap15ly

T. P. KIFF.
BATH ROOMS AND LAUNDRY.
OPEN AT ALL HOURS.
Work promptly and satisfactorily done. Terms reasonable. Front street, between Market and Sutton. ap15ly

S. R. OLDHAM.
PLUMBER,
Sanitary Engineer, Gas and Steam-Fitter. Dealer in Plumber's goods, Pumps, Pipes, Sewer Pipes, Lead and Iron Piping, Steam and Water Gauges, etc. Opposite Giesel's grocery. ap15ly
MAYSVILLE, KY.

JOHN T. FLEMING.
INSURANCE AGENCY.
Represents the London and Liverpool and Globe, German American, and Phoenix Companies of Brooklyn. Sole agent for Blue Lick Water. Office corner of Front and Sutton streets. ap15ly

FRANK DEVINE.
— Manufacturer of —
CIGARS.
Proprietor of the celebrated brand. Hold the Top, Parlor Queen and Mother Hubbard. Best cigars in the market. Full variety of smokers' articles. ap15ly
Second street, MAYSVILLE, KY.

C. S. MINER & BRO.
— Dealers in —
Boots, Shoes, Leather
And Findings.
No. 1, Second, cor. Sutton street, MAYSVILLE, KY.

WILLIAM HUNT.
— Manufacturer and originator of the celebrated brand of —
CIGARS.
Silver Dollar, Van Hunt's Dark Horse, Happy Smoker, Three Beauties, Cordwood and Gold Signs. Second street, Maysville, Ky.

MRS. DAULTON & BRO.
GOOD INTENT
Livery and Sale Stable.
A full line of all kinds of vehicles on hand for sale, hire or exchange. Horses kept by day, week or month. Largest and best equipped Livery Stable in the west. Prices as low as any. Best attention to vehicles and drivers. Telephone connection. No. 41, and 2nd Street. ap15ly
MAYSVILLE, KY.

NEW FIRM.
BISSET, McCLANAHAN & SHEA
(Successors to Cooper & Bisset.)
Dealers in Stoves, Ranges, Marble-top Stoves, and all kinds of household goods. Copper and Sheet Iron Work. ap15ly

SIMMONS.
Medicated Well-Water.
A Specific for DYSPEPSIA and DISEASES OF THE KIDNEYS.

It has been used with most gratifying success in many cases of chronic disease.
W. Clark, professor of Chemistry at the University of Cincinnati, writes: "I have used it to the same class with that of the Alkali Springs of Virginia, the medicinal virtues of which are too well known to need repetition. Those who desire to try this famous water are referred to Captain C. M. Holloway, Cincinnati, John J. Kelley, Cincinnati, Ohio. For sale in half barrels and jugs."

DR. SIMMONS, Proprietor,
225 Madison St.,
Aberdeen, Ohio.

COULD INTERVIEW.
What He Thinks on the Tariff and Other Matters.

His Graphic Picture of the Deporable Condition of Cuba, and of the flourishing condition of the South.
New York, March 28.—Mr. Jay Gould, who with his family has been for the past month residing in Southern waters in his yacht Atlanta, arrived here yesterday. He was seen last evening at his home and said: "Matters in Cuba are simply deplorable. That country is taxed to the verge of ruin. The planters are all falling and there is no confidence among the mercantile classes. Unless the Spanish Government does something for the relief of the people, absolute ruin is impending. There is quite a large party here in favor of annexation to the United States."

"What do you think of the condition of the Southern States?"
"They have vastly improved in all respects. Particularly the State of Florida. Florida is full of Northern men, and Northern capital and enterprise are working out astonishing results. Why, when we were there Formanville was so full that you could not get a room at a cot at the hotel, and through the State there are numbers of Northern men. The orange product of the State is assuming very large proportions, and also the timber product. There is very fine lumber in the State and the extension of the railroad system enables merchants to take the products for shipment to the North."

"Is the railroad system to be rapidly extended?"
"Very rapidly. Mr. Plant has a system of roads from Charleston, South Carolina, to the Southern part of Florida, and Col. Hedden has a system of lines extending to the West and connecting with the Louisville and Nashville. What is needed, I think, all along the Southern coast, even as far as Galveston, is Government aid, as far as it can be extended, to deepen the harbors. The commerce is large and increasing, but the harbors are shallow. I think that the United States Government could wisely spend some of its surplus in this direction."

"How as to the manufacture throughout the South?"
"They are increasing beyond all precedent. Cotton manufactures are being established in all directions and in Florida manufactures of turpentine, etc., are numerous."

"How as to the crops?"
"So far as I could learn, there will be an increased acreage for all descriptions of product. If the floods have injured the crops in the South, the land on the banks of the rivers, and the results of the floods will be, I think, increased crop rather than a diminished one."

"How did your yacht behave, Mr. Gould, since her alteration?"
"She is much improved, and I think as near perfection as possible."

"I think you go abroad in her this summer?"
"I shall go, but have not quite made up my mind."

"To what do you attribute the recent and present depression?"
"Well, there are several causes. There is the alleged, excessive over-trading in the past and consequent reaction is one cause. But in my opinion, the main cause is the agitation of the tariff. As long as that is in progress, everything is uncertain, and men's minds are unsettled."

"What would be the effect should the free traders win the legislation they desire?"
"It would be disastrous. There would be an entire prostration of the labor problem. The price of labor would have to come down to a level with that of the South. Very many manufacturing establishments would be obliged to suspend; only the strongest could survive."

"Should the tariff men win, would labor men out of employment who would be obliged to seek employment in agriculture, and this would cause wages in the country to fall?"
"That is an impossibility. That is admitted by all."

CONGRESSIONAL SUMMARY.
Senate.
The Blair Educational Bill came up as unfinished business.

Mr. Hamilton spoke in favor of the bill and at the same time expressed regret to be in opposition to his colleague (Butler) on a measure which he thought was of vital consequence to the best interests of their common country. Mr. Fugh, also supported the bill in a previous speech.

Mr. Vest commented at length on the statistics which the Senator from New Hampshire had furnished in regard to the passage of the bill. St. Louis had been credited by Mr. Blair with a school population of 100,000. Of these, 25,000 were enrolled; 35,000 in the average attendance; and 30,000 were growing up as howling savages.

"It is," said Mr. Vest, "that showing is correct, signposts should be put up at St. Louis warning the stranger against entering into the city. But the children in Cincinnati are growing up in ignorance as dense as that in the jungles of Africa." Mr. Vest went on to show that Mr. Blair had made enormous calculations and had counted as children of the school age infants "milling and piling in their nurse's arms." If there was anything of which Missouri was justly proud, it was her common school system.

Mr. Blair, in reply, admitted that he had made mis-statements in the heat of the debate, but contended that the figures of the census bore him out substantially in his line of argument.

Mr. Hamilton submitted an amendment limiting the appropriation to $50,000,000 a year for five years, to be used only in States having an illiteracy of ten per cent. and upwards.

Mr. Blair intimated that the friends of the measure would try and press to a vote on Monday at the latest. At 4:20 P. M. the Senate went into executive session and soon afterwards adjourned.

House.
After some unimportant business the House went into Committee of the Whole on the Bonded Whisky Bill, general debate closing at 1:15 by order of the House.

Mr. Blair said that the bill was of more importance than anything before the present Congress. There were others watching the action of the House than those directly affected by its passage. A course of legislation has been crowded out. Men of small capital are opposed to the bill because the industry will call for a new system of internal taxation which he abhorred, and with Thomas Jefferson, regretted it had not been prohibited by the Constitution.

Blackburn took the floor for the closing hour, and said that he was disappointed in admitting neither sentiment nor sympathy. As much as it should be so considered by the House, it was not a matter of sentiment.

Mr. Blair said that the bill was not a matter of sentiment. It was a matter of fact. It had not more fully prevailed during the discussion of the bill, in reply to Dunn's remarks, that the bill was not a matter of sentiment.

Mr. Blair said that the bill was not a matter of sentiment. It was a matter of fact. It had not more fully prevailed during the discussion of the bill, in reply to Dunn's remarks, that the bill was not a matter of sentiment.

Mr. Blair said that the bill was not a matter of sentiment. It was a matter of fact. It had not more fully prevailed during the discussion of the bill, in reply to Dunn's remarks, that the bill was not a matter of sentiment.

Mr. Blair said that the bill was not a matter of sentiment. It was a matter of fact. It had not more fully prevailed during the discussion of the bill, in reply to Dunn's remarks, that the bill was not a matter of sentiment.

Mr. Blair said that the bill was not a matter of sentiment. It was a matter of fact. It had not more fully prevailed during the discussion of the bill, in reply to Dunn's remarks, that the bill was not a matter of sentiment.

Mr. Blair said that the bill was not a matter of sentiment. It was a matter of fact. It had not more fully prevailed during the discussion of the bill, in reply to Dunn's remarks, that the bill was not a matter of sentiment.

Mr. Blair said that the bill was not a matter of sentiment. It was a matter of fact. It had not more fully prevailed during the discussion of the bill, in reply to Dunn's remarks, that the bill was not a matter of sentiment.

Mr. Blair said that the bill was not a matter of sentiment. It was a matter of fact. It had not more fully prevailed during the discussion of the bill, in reply to Dunn's remarks, that the bill was not a matter of sentiment.

Mr. Blair said that the bill was not a matter of sentiment. It was a matter of fact. It had not more fully prevailed during the discussion of the bill, in reply to Dunn's remarks, that the bill was not a matter of sentiment.

Mr. Blair said that the bill was not a matter of sentiment. It was a matter of fact. It had not more fully prevailed during the discussion of the bill, in reply to Dunn's remarks, that the bill was not a matter of sentiment.

Mr. Blair said that the bill was not a matter of sentiment. It was a matter of fact. It had not more fully prevailed during the discussion of the bill, in reply to Dunn's remarks, that the bill was not a matter of sentiment.

Mr. Blair said that the bill was not a matter of sentiment. It was a matter of fact. It had not more fully prevailed during the discussion of the bill, in reply to Dunn's remarks, that the bill was not a matter of sentiment.

Mr. Blair said that the bill was not a matter of sentiment. It was a matter of fact. It had not more fully prevailed during the discussion of the bill, in reply to Dunn's remarks, that the bill was not a matter of sentiment.

Mr. Blair said that the bill was not a matter of sentiment. It was a matter of fact. It had not more fully prevailed during the discussion of the bill, in reply to Dunn's remarks, that the bill was not a matter of sentiment.

FEAR OF MOB VIOLENCE.
Intense Excitement Prevailing in Cincinnati.

An Indignation Meeting to Consider the Means of Preventing the Prevalence of Crime—Fears of General Lynching.

CINCINNATI, March 29.—The intensity of the excitement over the outrageous Bremer verdict, and the fact that the feeling, instead of cooling, is increasing in bitterness, caused decided alarm. It was rumored on the streets that the jail officials had quietly run Bremer to Columbus, but this produced no particular effect, as the indignation seems not so much leveled at him personally as at the whole gang of murderers and at the jurors who returned the infamous verdict.

A mass meeting is called to be held in Music Hall, and there are grave fears as to the result. An immense throng is certain to be present, and, if inflammatory speeches are made, as most likely will be the case, there is no telling where the thing will stop. It is an undeniable fact that the feeling in favor of mobbing the jail and hanging every murderer in it, is shared by a class of citizens ordinarily of the most law-abiding and peaceable character.

The indignation among the Germans, especially, is exceedingly intense. Satirical cartoons of the criminal lawyers, the jury, and Bremer are hawked about the streets, and in various parts of the German quarter effigies of the murderers have been hanged to telegraph poles. The effect of all this has been to raise the popular anger to a pitch that is to the last degree dangerous.

On Friday morning cabalistic figures were found chalked on the walls, building fronts and sidewalks in nearly all parts of the city. These consisted of the figures "2-28-75." However harmless the real meaning of this may be, so great is the general uneasiness, that many alarming predictions of it are current rumors on the street.

The Bremer jurors have been most bitterly persecuted. All who were working for wages have lost their employment, and are boycotted at every other establishment in the city. Several have narrowly escaped being mobbed, and none dare show their faces where there is liability of recognition.

Lost in a Snow Storm.
SILVER CREEK, Mo., March 29.—A terrible snow storm, which began last night and to-day, and there are no signs of its breaking. The snow is two feet deep on houses, and the roads are almost impassable. This is the heaviest storm of the winter in this country. Robert Cummings, a resident of Titusville, a neighboring town, came to Silver Creek yesterday, drew a small amount of money from the bank, and started to walk home through the storm. He never saw his way to believe that he lost his way and was frozen to death. Having been exhausted in trying to force his way through the storm, he lay down to rest and never awoke. The money was found on his person.

Trailing a Firebug.
CARRO, Ill., March 29.—Chief Meyers, of this city, the last several days has been in the custody of a man named Wilson, who with two others, attempted the destruction of Columbus, Ky., by fire. Wilson was committed to jail and jumped his bond for the hundred dollars reward was offered for his capture, and a short time ago Chief Meyers got word of him, visiting his friends just too late. This morning he caught the fugitive at Du Quoin, and arrested him with the aid of the sheriff, bringing him up to the Sheriff from Columbus, who was here in waiting. The trail of Wilson was well covered, and his disappearance, and his capture is regarded as a good piece of detective work. Meyers will receive the reward.

Turning the Tables.
LEADVILLE, Col., March 29.—It has been the custom of the city authorities for some time to collect monthly fines of five of $5 from the prostitutes of the city instead of having them arrested and brought before the Police Court. This afternoon about a dozen of them appeared before the Grand Jury and entered complaints against the illegal fines. The Deputy Collector was arrested, but the cases of the Aldermen have not yet proceeded that far. The women promise to make it lively for the city Council.

A Train Robber's Escape.
CARRO, Ill., March 29.—Among the who escaped during the City Jail delivery here a few days ago was one Ben Simms, who was judged for a long time. McSully's show window last week. He has since been known as a criminal of some considerable magnitude. He is known in Texas as Sully's Simms, and is a good and much wanted train robber, who broke jail at Jonesboro some time ago, where he was held for a train robbery. A reward was offered for him, but it was not known at the time of his arrest.

Died in a Police Station.
NEW YORK, March 29.—George Hendrix, the alleged destroyer of the Andrea Doria, who in the spring of 1882, was locked up in a Brooklyn police station Monday, on a charge of kidnapping, died today. An autopsy showed that his skull was fractured. How the injury was received is not known. Hendrix was a member of a society of Communists.

A Nice Young Man.
CHICAGO, March 29.—Thomas Wilson, indicted on the late Harry T. Wilson, of the Mayor and Aldermen, was today that city yesterday on a charge of criminally assaulting his foster mother who is about sixty years old.

BELGIAN GLASS-BLOWERS.
Venkues Accused of Striking Up Trouble.

LONDON, March 29.—The strike of the Belgian glass-workers continues, and after paralyzing the glass industry in Belgium bids fair to extend all over Europe. The strikers demand an alteration of the methods of work and a reduction of the time with out a reduction of wages. The employers refuse both demands, alleging that the revival of the glass-making industry in the United States and the great prosperity and competition of the American trade make it impossible to carry on the business in Belgium upon any other basis than that in vogue before the strike. It is rumored that American capital is backing up the strikers.

A congress of Belgian, British, French and American glass-workers, has been called to meet in June, at Charleroi, Belgium, for the purpose of forming an International Confederation for the regulation of the prices of labor in the glass industry. Belgian ministers have recently asserted a suspicion that this congress has been projected and is being worked by "Yankees" for the purpose of inducing a settlement of the troubles now ruining the European glass trade, until the Americans have secured a permanent control of the business.

MISS TERRY'S PET DOG.
Why the Actress Gave Up Her Rooms
NEW YORK, March 29.—Henry Irving and Miss Terry are playing in Brooklyn this week. Mr. Irving and the rest of the company, except Miss Terry, engaged rooms in this city; but Miss Terry wishing to be near the theater, went to the Pierpont House, Brooklyn. Her Montague street, an aristocratic quarter.

On Monday night, after the performance, she went to the hotel, taking with her a black and white dog, which has attended her during her trip to this country. The hotel clerk informed her that the dog had been taken care of by a porter, but Miss Terry insisted that she would take it to her room. A telegram was sent to the hotel proprietor, then stopping at Fortnum Moore, asking whether this exception to the rule should be made in her favor, and he promptly responded that the dog could not be allowed up-stairs.

Miss Terry on Tuesday morning gave up the three rooms which she had engaged for a week and joined the rest of the company in the city, where her dog is allowed to be seen on the streets without question.

Working on Time.
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 29.—The Grand Jury has temporarily adjourned, and has created a sensation. They have returned over 20 indictments, including the most prominent county and municipal officers. Sheriff McCall, Recorder Callaghan, Attorney General Newton, Mayor, Constable Bowen, Marshal Sharden, and Justice Adams are among the number.

The animus is a strong desire to close the Vaudeville Variety Theater, where Ben Thompson came his death, and the officers of the year, are thus provoked for not closing up the place. It is also an organized attack on all gamblers and houses of ill-repute, there is a manifest intention to strictly enforce the Sunday law. There is some excitement and a great deal of talk on the streets.

The News Monopoly Scheme.
WASHINGTON, March 29.—The Western Union-Associated Press and other persons claim to create a monopoly of news, and are meeting with flattering success, and the prevailing opinion is that it will be peacefully in committee. The Denver Tribune, conducted by Mr. Rothacker, formerly of the Denver Tribune, says: "It might have been a grand idea and a grand scheme to get some news before it began to annoy Congress with a bill to copyright news."

The Associated Press is a monopoly of the country. Even the mails are ahead of it." This is but a sample of the comments on the news monopoly scheme of the country on the absurd scheme.

Five Days from the City of Mexico.
CHICAGO, March 29.—The first through party from the City of Mexico over the recently completed Mexican Central Railway arrived here from Kansas City this morning in a special train over the Burlington Road. The party is made up jointly of Americans and Mexicans, and is headed by an ex-capital, thirty students, who left for Notre Dame University in Indiana this morning, and a few Mexican merchants.

The main body of travelers continued their journey eastward by forenoon trains, and the remainder of the contingent will stay for a time in this city. The run from the City of Mexico was made in five days.

An Oil Well Mystery.
PITTSBURGH, March 29.—There is considerable excitement in the oil trade over a new well recently drilled in Allegheny County. The drillers and prospectors to the well are slightly hoarse, and now except the workmen are known as the McSully's show window last week. He has since been known as a criminal of some considerable magnitude. He is known in Texas as Sully's Simms, and is a good and much wanted train robber, who broke jail at Jonesboro some time ago, where he was held for a train robbery. A reward was offered for him, but it was not known at the time of his arrest.

Western Union Defeated.
SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 29.—The attempt of the Western Union to prevent the Baltimore and Ohio Telegraph Company taking possession of the Western Union line, recently purchased by the latter from the National Telegraph Company failed. Judge Wallace rendered a decision in favor of the defendant. The decision enables the Baltimore and Ohio to secure through communication to Chicago by the West Shore and Nickel Plate routes.

Drowned Himself.
FRANKLIN, Ind., March 29.—This morning about eight o'clock the body of Mrs. Indiana, an old lady over seventy years of age, was found in the eastern end of the Indiana canal, near the city of Indianapolis, on one of our County Commissioners, living east of this point. Being in feeble mind she jumped into the canal and was drowned.

Headquarters for
Parlor, Bed-room and Dining-room

Easy Chairs a Specialty.

BED-ROOM SUITS from $20 to $200. Large lines of WILLOW GOODS, EASY CHAIRS etc.
all Cincinnati bills liberally discounted. Call and be convinced. makemo

PAUL D. ANDERSON,
DENTIST.

No. 21 Market St., nearly opp. Central Hotel.
After Open at 10 o'clock. MAYSVILLE, KY
may13td.

A. FINCH & CO.,
—DEALERS IN—
GRAIN, FLOUR AND HEMP.
Cor. Third and Sutton Streets
MAYSVILLE, KY.